

WHAT TO EXPECT WHEN SELECTING THE UNLACQUERED BRASS FINISH - UPON RECEIPT

The finishing touch of every BRASSLUX piece is its surface: solid brass with a soft, warm and genuine feel that no synthetic coating can imitate.

Unlacquered Brass is natural polished brass with no protective coating. As a result, the brass will change with time and with exposure to its environment. This change starts immediately.

By its very nature, this finish may not appear flawless upon initial receipt. Uneven coloring and light blemishes straight out of the box are likely, and the brass varies slightly from component to component, so small color variations within one product are normal. This is part of the charm of this finish, and it is to be expected.

WHAT TO EXPECT WHEN SELECTING THE UNLACQUERED BRASS FINISH - OVER TIME

The Unlacquered Brass finish is a living finish. Its character will develop and change over time, depending on how the fixture is used and maintained, along with exposure to the environment.

It is raw brass, polished and left unlacquered for natural aging. It takes on a patina that varies with sun, touch, oxygen and other airborne particles. Natural aging may produce uneven coloring, blemishes, and black, white or even green tones, all of which are natural characteristics of unlacquered brass.

This finish should be selected for its raw and ever-changing beauty: the beauty of aging. The working parts of every BRASSLUX fixture are covered by our 5-year warranty; the living finish itself is expected to evolve, and that evolution is not a defect.

CLEANING TIPS: Use soft soap and water for everyday cleaning, and dry the fixture after use. Do not use abrasives, alcohol, ammonia, vinegar, or other harsh chemicals.

POLISHING TIPS: Use a brass cleaner or polishing cream to brighten the finish. This can remove the patina unevenly, so polish the whole piece evenly. After polishing, apply a liquid or spray wax. Wax slows down the patina and aging process.